

Carolina Story consists of husband/wife duo, Ben & Emily Roberts, two singer/songwriters from Arkansas and South Dakota respectively, who met at Visible Music College in Memphis in 2007. They began collaborating their musical styles and naturally fell in love and were married by June 2009. In 2010, as they continually toured all over the US, visiting 28 states and playing nearly 200 shows, they came to understand that this life is about love & relationship. Most of their songs have come from the people they have met or personal experiences and translate into stories about the human condition that everyone can relate to. As they continued singing/writing together, a unique sound was formed which is rooted in Folk/Americana/Old Country/Roots Music. Their voices blend to create one voice & their harmonies will leave you wanting more. With captivating vocals, acoustic guitars, harmonicas, a kick drum and tambourines, they bring a full sound for just a duo. All ages fall in love with this couples youthfulness and refreshing outlook on folk music. Their songwriting continues to mesh and create a Folk/Americana sound that is getting attention and accolades of a lot of great musicians. 2010 saw them being chosen to be a part of Music City Unsigned, which promotes Nashville's best emerging independent artists. They are also one of the founding artists of The Traveling Troubadours: More Than a Show, tours which seek to serve communities through music and humanitarian efforts. They have played nearly 300 shows in just 2 1/2 years as a band, booking all their shows independently. If this is just the beginning, we can't wait for the rest of the story to unfold.

Carolina Story's unique style of Folk music is derived from the dynamic of a married couple creating it. Their blended harmonies backed by guitar, harmonica and suitcase percussion create a sound that is solely their own. Their songwriting is based on their personal experience together on the road.
